Podcast app with educational purpose

Trapholt Museum Podcast App - portal to a fun educational experience. Designed for students and teachers and developed with simplicity in mind, this app is an incredible source of information into exhibitions, architects, and designers. The app's interface is simple and intuitive, inspired by Spotify's known and intuitive design. The app's icon is wrapped in our vivid palette's colours with gradient, including the logo in the middle of it. With a rich extensive assortment of stories about art, architecture, and design, it is an invaluable resource for educational institutions.

The prototype of our Trapholt Museum Podcast App was precisely created using Figma, a strong design tool that assures a smooth and dynamic user experience. Figma has enabled us to realise our idea by building a practical and visually appealing prototype that reflects the final product's appearance and feel.
